BY WAY OF DIVERSION.

When milk goes up, the larmers prin. It means more cash will soon rome in, and that is very pleasing The dealers also sit and smile. They fealize that, after awhile, expenses will be easing. It's very fine for allthese men to see the price rise now and then. With Joy they're quite repletedent. It means their wives may tress in silk, but what of causes whose lives on milk are utterly dependent? The man whose donar thows no taint need not be tooked on as a saint. He's just a human being. And very likely you'll find he can liesp at night most peacefully. From 'ears he's never fleeing. Fil bet l'he cow, if she could know how greedy nikmen grab the dougn, would never et them do it. She'd call them down with pointed "moos." I really thus that she'd refuse to be a party to it. these men to see the price rise now
